McCormick Urges Approval of Loop

County commissioner Bailie McCormick Monday urged the Randall County Commissioners Court to get Highway Department approval of the proposed loop around South Amarillo.

Cost of the 19 miles of right-of-way for the loop and underpass under Washington will probably run too high to permit purchase with precinct funds, McCormick said. He estimated the cost at $250,000 to $300,000.

Clarence Beckman, precinct 2 commissioner, asked that state appraisers be called in.

One property owner has asked $4,000 an acre for right-of-way needed, McCormick said.

Commissioners cannot call a bond election to finance right-of-way purchases unless they receive a petition to do so, Beckman said.

To Name County Roads

In other action, McCormick and Commissioner C. Y. Johnson agreed to name county roads entering the Expressway between Canyon and Amarillo.

The request had been made by Chili Smith, district highway department engineer and presented by W. V. York, resident engineer. Commissioners also agreed to study the possibility of naming other county roads that enter state highways.

The court agreed to pay $1,000 to the City of Amarillo and the City of Canyon for expense on recreation programs.

Clears Legal Barriers
A. W. Lair, county district attorney, advised commissioners that such an appropriation would clear legal barriers against the county's participation in such programs as Kids, Inc., in Amarillo and the Babe Ruth and Little League programs in Canyon.

Lair also told the court that the State of Texas had refused to participate with the county in negotiating any settlement with the estate of Mrs. Nellie Abrahamson in a right-of-way case originating from a dispute over land taken for the Amarillo Expressway.

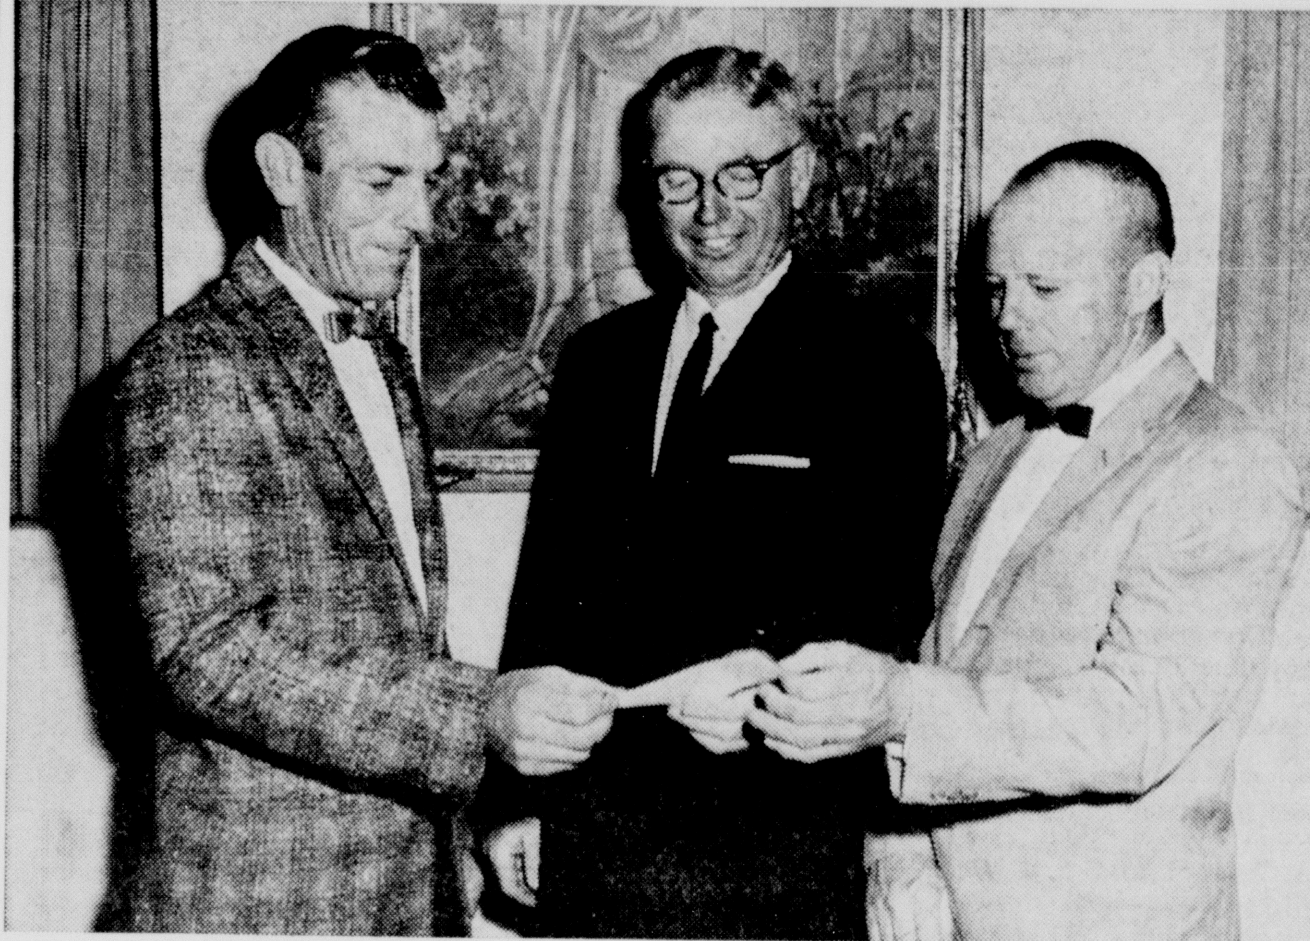

Commissioners agreed to continue negotiations with Ben Monning, Jr., attorney for the estate, on the basis of the county's half of the difference between the amount awarded by the condemnation commission—about $6,700—and the figure $7,300, originally set by state appraisers.

Lair to Sign Contracts
Lair was authorized to sign contracts on adjustments with pipeline and utility companies. Knox Parr, highway department right-of-way engineer, said the state had been paying its one-half of cost of the contracts signed by Lair, but now wanted specific authorization for Lair to sign such contracts.

Commissioners accepted bids from Bruce Blackaby - Ford for two cars for the sheriff's department. The bids were $1,019 for a car with a 1958 trade-in, and $719 for a car with a 1959 trade-in. A bid from IBM for $855 was accepted for two electric typewriters to be used in the office of Mavis Hill, district clerk.

Commissioners ordered County Auditor E. T. Cummings to advertise for bids on 1,000 feet of 400-pound test fire hose, to be used on the county-owned fire truck.

Memorial Day was added to the list of holidays to be observed by Randall County courthouse offices.

The Rev. H. Doyle Ragle, pastor of the First Methodist Church, receives a check from Art Roberts, left, and Jack Downing, right. The check, which represents donations from the church's membership, will cover the basic expenses of a six-weeks European trip the Rev. Ragle will take this summer. Roberts is chairman of the special committee that collected the money, and Downing is chairman of the Board of Stewards.

City Methodists Give Pastor Money for Trip to Europe

It was supposed to be a routine report that indebtedness on the latest addition to the First Methodist Church had been paid off—at least, that is what the Rev. H. Doyle Ragle, pastor, thought.

Instead, the Rev. Ragle was presented a check for $1,500—enough to cover the basic expenses of a trip to Europe and the Holy Land, which he had planned to take this summer.

117 Families Donated

The presentation was made in the 11 a.m. worship service May 15 at the church, before a large percentage of the 117 families who had donated the money in appreciation for the Rev. Ragle's work.

A special committee, headed by Art Roberts, collected the funds. Other committee members were Wilford Taylor, Jr., Jack Swartzell, and Clifford Abbott.

The Rev. Ragle will leave Canyon June 9 by train for New York, from where he will fly to Europe for a three-pronged visit to the Oberammergau Passion Play in Germany, the Holy Lands, and England.

To Visit Passion Play

Announcement of those who will conduct services in his absence will be made in next week's issue of The Canyon News.

Produced once every 10 years, the Oberammergau Passion Play runs eight hours and depicts events in the Bible. It has been produced in an open air theatre since the 1600's.

"This Passion Play is one reason I wanted to go this summer. It won't be produced again until 1970," the Rev. Ragle said.

Holy Land Tour

After visiting in Germany, he plans to swing south through Europe, visiting Rome, Athens, Cairo, and Damascus, before arriving in Palestine, where he will spend two weeks. One week will be spent on the Jordan side and one on the Israel side.

The Rev. Ragle says his special interests are the archaeological sites related to events in the life of Jesus, a fish supper at Tiberias on the sea of Galilee, caves where the Dead Sea Scrolls were found, and Damascus.

The third major portion of the tour will be a week's study in England to study the backgrounds of Methodism, he said.

All of the trip except England will be an American Express Company tour, under the direction of Dr. W. W. Sloan, professor of Bible at Elon College in North Carolina.

59 to Graduate Friday at CHS

Some 59 members of the senior class of Canyon High School will receive their diplomas Friday at commencement exercises in the West Texas State College auditorium.

Dr. James P. Cornette, president of WT, will deliver the commencement address. Dr. Cornette has a son, Bill, among the graduating seniors.

Last Sunday's baccalaureate speaker, Bob Wear, also has a son, John, who is graduating this year. Wear is minister of the Central Church of Christ and a member of the school board.

A. C. Haley, Jr., president of the Canyon school board, will present the diplomas to the graduating seniors.

After diplomas have been presented, James E. Miller, high school principal, will make the announcement of honors, including the winners of valedictorian and salutatorian honors.

The commencement exercises will get underway in the auditorium, located in the Administration Building, at 8:15 p.m. with Mrs. Lee Foster playing for the procession.

Rev. Aaron D. Mann, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, will give the invocation, and Joe A. Gibson, superintendent of schools, will introduce Dr. Cornette.

Cool Million Earning Keep

The $1 million voted two years ago to build a new school has been busy earning its keep.

So far the money has earned over $35,000 for the Canyon Independent School District, mostly on interest on U. S. Treasury notes.

Voters in the school district voted to sell $1 million in bonds in 1958 to build a new high school in Canyon. The bonds were sold soon afterwards, but construction was not started on the new school until last fall.

According to figures released by Lee Foster, school tax assessor-collector, money earned by the school on the bonds between November 19, 1958, and August 21, 1959, totaled $17,816.79. This money was deposited to the interest and sinking fund account of the school district.

An additional $17,289.20 will have been earned by June 30 from interest on U. S. Treasury notes, according to Foster's figures.

Over $15,000 has been collected by the school district, with another $1,800 due it on June 30. This money is being deposited to the building fund account of the school district.

On June 30, the $1,000,000 will have earned $35,105.99 for the school district.

The inviting shade of these trees will soon be lost to Canyonites as the State Highway Department widens Highway 217 from the courthouse to 11th Street in the city. Highway 217 is designated as Fourth Avenue by the city and is a four-lane highway from 23rd Street to 16th Street. The state let the contract last week to the Ivan Dement Company to widen the street to four lanes from 16th Street to 11th Street on Fourth Avenue, and from Fourth Avenue to Highway 87 on 11th Street.

It's Your World

Graduation time is here again, for both Canyon High School and West Texas State College. Commencement speakers are pointing to "unlimited horizons" in "these challenging times." Gifts are being given and received; congratulations are given the graduating students.

Despite charges that "Johnny can't read," it is an accomplishment to earn a high school diploma—and even more of an accomplishment to receive a college degree.

Life awaits the graduates in many forms — employment, more education, marriage, perhaps even war. With diplomas tucked under their arms, they face a world that can be as hard and cold as they make it or as gentle and peaceful as a playful lamb. The individual himself determines his world.

Graduation ends a chapter in the student's life. Education has played a large role in the chapter, but there are other factors—association with others, experience, creative work of the mind, and perhaps a few doubts about the value of a liberal arts background for his vocation.

A boy set on being a mechanic may not see how Shakespeare's works, "King Cotton" diplomacy, or a Chopin prelude will help him repair a fuel pump. He may not see that a research theme forces him to think for himself.

This indifference toward the basic meaning of education is an imposing block. The application of many high school and college courses to living tomorrow is elementary enough when students realize they are being taught to think. Inductive and deductive reasoning are as important in a repair shop as they are anywhere else.

Logic can be obtained in our schools more easily than any other place.

The Canyon News wishes to salute the 59 Canyon High School and 278 West Texas State College graduates.

The Sin of Tolerance

Tolerance has been defined as "recognizing and respecting other's beliefs or practices without necessarily agreeing or sympathizing." Generally speaking tolerance is a sort of benign, kindly attitude toward the foibles and frailties of other people. It is a trait of character or viewpoint most broad-minded people seek to cultivate.

Americans have always been considered a tolerant people. Religious liberty, for instance, is guaranteed by our Constitution. We have scores of different sects and creeds, churches and religious groups, all getting along in more or less peace and amity. We have sharp and at times violent differences of opinion; yet we respect the other fellow's right to differ with us, no matter how irrational his argument may sound.

We argue pointedly about politics, we differ with each other about countless aspects of our daily life, yet insofar as these differences go between Americans, the sharp edges of discord have always been blunted against a solid background; the feeling of universal loyalty to one nation, one flag and one God.

Of late years there has been a change. The country is uneasy. You hear the oft-repeated statement, "I don't like the looks of things." People are beginning to look beneath all the tinsel and fanfare of clever propaganda and catch glimpses of the shoddy base on which some of the so-called liberals rest their bed for power. We have followed too many false leaders, men who are strangers to the old words of "honor and faith and sure intent."

The tolerance that was once a virtue has now become a sin. We have become too tolerant.

We have become tolerant about treason; we have become tolerant about chicanery in high places; we have become tolerant about immorality; we have become tolerant about crime, delinquency and illegitimacy; we have become tolerant about government waste, about the loss of our freedom; we have become tolerant about godlessness, about unbelief. We have been sapped of conviction, drained of our beliefs and bereft of our faith.

Whatever the disillusionment, no man should cease to hunt for what he wants or to hope for great things. Great things exist. It is the men who destroy them.

School's Out

As the end of the school year approaches, parents ready themselves to take back the children they entrusted to the care of the teachers last fall. They get them back pounds heavier, inches taller, months wiser, more responsible, and more mature.

The physical growth the child would have attained without the help of the teacher, but the intellectual growth and maturity were in large part due to the teacher. Parents have helped at home, but without the teacher the job would not have been complete.

Having spent nine months in the narrow confines of the classroom, teacher and child have grown close to each other and have become a part of each other. The teacher has watched and influenced day-by-day development, been heartened or discouraged by each success or failure; been thrilled with each expansion of the child. A small part of every teacher remains with each child.

Throughout the year teacher and child have lived, loved, laughed, played, studied and learned together.

They have spent many hours each day sharing all the events of the school routine. The relationship is so close that often teacher is mistakenly called mother.

With this relationship goes love, admiration and respect. This is not a substitute for the parent-child relationship but is a necessary supplement.

Not only have the teachers watched over and guided the personality development of the child, but they have patiently and carefully taught the child how to develop his mental resources. Using the basic curriculum as a foundation, they have studied facts and figures. With the mastery of each new fact, the teacher has inspired the child to seek out more knowledge and discover for himself that learning can be interesting and exciting.

This week school is out—and our teachers go to summer jobs, back to school to further their own education, or to spend their time in well deserved rest and recreation. The good wishes of all parents go with them.

May they return next fall with renewed vigor to once again meet the challenge of educating our youth.

For their service the community is indeed grateful.

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Harold Hudson in the Ochiltree County Herald: Stamford had to give back their state football championship trophy when the Interscholastic League found the school guilty of illegal recruiting. Seems that their all-state center remained in Stamford and lived at the fire station, kept in room and board by the local booster club, when his parents moved to Floydada. This practice is not confined to Stamford. Similar incidents have been rumored for years in Breckenridge, Phillips, Dumas and other schools. Even Perryton, a number of years ago, had a couple of players who stayed behind for a final year of football when their parents moved on. This was a year when the Rangers didn't win a game, however, so nobody blew the whistle, if indeed there was a violation of rules.

Melvin Tomme in The Ralls Banner: Suggestion to safety minded residents of Ralls—There are a few teenage and older drivers that are raising the roof with cars and an apparent license to fly on our city streets. I would suggest if one of them runs into you because of his speed and recklessness, which is likely, that instead of reporting him to your law enforcement officers you simply get out of your car and proceed to stomp him in the pavement. It might cost you 20 bucks for fighting but I think it would be worth it. There is no cause to let these overgrown kids drive 55 and 60 miles an hour up and down Main Street, paying no attention to the traffic lights or people in other cars. It is time something was done and a sound thrashing probably would be best, especially since it would be a surprise move. Most of these kids show by their actions they don't know what a good tanning means.

The Good Old Days of Reporting Are Gone, But Not Forgotten

By BOYCE HOUSE

Newspaper reporters aren't like they used to be? (Who or what is?)

I remember, in my "cub" days as a member of the staff of a Southern newspaper where I specialized in writing obituaries and minor fires, one day there walked into the office a short, chunky individual with a rolling gait. He wore glasses and had a serious way of speaking. He informed the city editor that he had just landed —and that was the correct word—in town as (he said) he and his wife had floated down the Mississippi on a raft.

He had the said visited the leper island and had talked with Father Dutton, who had succeeded Father Damien. Also (he said) in the Far East, or maybe it was the South Seas, he had been in a shipwreck, had washed ashore on an island and had been captured by natives who tortured him by pulling out his toe-nails. I do not recall how he escaped as the adventures by that time had my head whirling but I seem vaguely to remember that (he said) he made a speech and became their chief.

Of course, a man with such an exotic career was hired on the spot. Soon he was star of the staff, his name signed to more stories than all the rest of us combined. In fact, he became so well-established in our city that he married a prominent lady. What became of the wife who had floated down the Mississippi on a raft was never exactly clear. Come to think of it, none of us ever did actually see her.

It was not to be expected that our paper could hope to keep the services of so remarkable a journalist permanently. One day, he solemnly shook the hand of each of us and told us that the great open spaces were calling.

When next we heard of him, he was on a Pacific Coast newspaper—as financial editor. The next we heard after that, the financial editor was gone but, so as not to be forgotten, he had left, not footprints on the sands of time, but a bevy of "hot" checks. Possibly he drifted on to the Mayan ruins of Yucatan or journeyed to Egypt to capture crocodiles.

My point is, reporters aren't what they used to be. I reckon it's the standardizing influence of schools of journalism—or maybe the more efficient exchange of information between credit bureaus.

NOW LOOK WHAT CORVAIR'S GONE AND DONE!

The same Corvair that tallied a thumping 27.03 miles per gallon* in the Mobilgas Economy Run . . . went right on to climb Pikes Peak earlier in the spring than any car has ever tried!

We wanted to show you what the fabulous traction of Corvair's rear-engine design and the sure-footedness of four-wheel independent suspension really mean. So the identical Economy Run car went right on to 14,110-foot Pikes Peak-and right up to the top of that savage mountain, on April 15, still deep in winter's snow and ice. No other car-even specially equipped-had ever been able to conquer that nightmare alpine road so early in the spring. But Corvair (with United States Auto Club officials aboard to certify that not one nut or bolt was changed) purred right to the summit without chains or even snow tires! That just underscores the fact that Corvair is totally unique. But you'll find that out the first five minutes you're at the wheel!

"SCHOOL DAYS"

As we draw to the end of another school year, I am sure that all campus activities have stopped and those who haven't studied regularly during the year are burning the midnight oil.

We would like to offer our congratulations to the graduating class of W.T.S.C. To the graduating class of Canyon High School we offer advice as well as congratulations. The Advice—GO TO COLLEGE. The true value of a college degree can hardly be measured as there are many intangibles involved. However, from a dollars and cents standpoint, I imagine any survey would show that college graduates pay more income tax than non-graduates. And that makes a good patriotic reason to go to college.

PLAYING CUPID

It's such a natural thing—sometimes it's almost automatic—for your phone to come to mind when you think of someone you love who's out of town. Yes, I suppose not a day goes by that somebody in Canyon doesn't use the phone to remember a loved one.

So it's easy to see why an Air Force sergeant stationed in Iceland thought of telephone service when he wanted to send flowers to his wife back home for her birthday. This fellow wanted folks at the telephone company to have the flowers delivered and then charged to his telephone account.

Now, even though it wasn't possible to bill the flowers to his telephone account, the girls in Miss Clara Balzen's service order group decided to help, anyway. They wrote they were sorry that the telephone company was unable to charge a florist bill to his phone, but they added this personal note: "However, we feel such thoughtfulness deserves special attention."

Then they picked out a birthday card and a dozen roses and had them delivered to the sergeant's wife.

The upshot of it was that the lives of two people—miles apart—were brightened by the thoughtfulness of a group of telephone girls who cared enough to find a way to help.

WHAT ELSE IS SO DEPENDABLE?

Most folks don't realize it, but everytime you make or receive a telephone call, your phone sets a new record for dependability.

And because it does, you needn't worry about wear and tear, replacement parts, or repair bills. When repairs are needed, there is no charge to you. I doubt whether there are many other things you have that are so free of trouble as your phone.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

YOUR HEALTH

Health Department Inspection Of Vacation Camps to Continue

The Division of Sanitary Engineering of the Texas State Department of Health has carried on a Vacation Camp Sanitation Program for many years.

During 1959, an effort was made on the compilation of vacation camps into an up-to-date directory. At present, 140 camps have been located.

Seventy of these camps were inspected. Total attendance at the camps was 140,000 children according to inspection reports.

Pure Water Problem

A safe, properly protected water supply is the major problem faced by camp directors. The director must know that the camp water supply is bacteriologically safe.

Water samples are sent to Health Department or commercial laboratories at regular intervals to be tested for the presence of contamination possibly harmful to human beings.

Other vacation camp sanitation problems confront the operators. High on the responsibility list is safety involving water front activities. In some instances, a modern swimming pool or natural bathing area is available, where sanitation is equally important.

Proper food sanitation and adequate insect control must be carefully planned by camp authorities.

Call on Department

Extensive precautions concerning the disposal of human wastes and garbage disposal need to be taken to guard against the pollution of nearby streams and to prevent fly breeding.

Various camping associations call upon the Division of Sanitary Engineering and local health authorities for assistance and counseling as needed.

While in most instances camp owners, camp directors and camping associations voluntarily endeavor to attain a high degree of sanitary perfection, the regulatory basis for sanitary practices are found in the Texas General Sanitation Law of 1945.

The Division of Sanitary Engineering will continue its Vacation Camp Sanitation Program this summer.

(This is a weekly feature of the Public Health Education Division of the Texas State Department of Health.)

WT Prof's Article In Utah Quarterly

The elements of tragedy in Arthur Miller's play, "Death of a Salesman," are examined in an article in the Western Humanities Review by Dr. George de Schweinitz, professor of English at West Texas State College.

The review, a quarterly, is published by the University of Utah, and Dr. de Schweinitz's article appears in the winter issue. Title is "Death of a Salesman: A Note on Epic and Tragedy."

Dr. de Schweinitz concludes that the play is definitely a tragedy, utilizing measures upon which Western culture establishes epics and tragedies.

People who are used to plane travel forget that it is a miracle. Many, in fact, somewhat bored with the whole idea, think of it as drudgery, a way to get there fast then back, to lessen the lonely hours away from home. If they consider the mechanics of flying at all, it is to hope nothing fails to perform — a possibility they have schooled themselves to ignore.

Last week the minister in our church made his first flight. He and his wife took off on a stormy night, to fly over plains and mountains, to a church meeting 500 miles away. As they rose above the storm clouds into the clear, still moonlit heavens, he says, the familiar song, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," took on new meaning and depth.

His experience reminds us all of the first sensations of flying, almost like a disembodied spirit, through space. The every-day ties which support our ego — the home circle, the car in the garage, the kitchen stove, the busyness of a daily job — these things have vanished. We are conscious of the nothingness beneath us. The utter fragility of this plane, this engine that powers it, these people, overwhelms us. The sense that man is indeed like the sparrow — so insignificant in all this vastness above the earth — makes us see our usual worries and doubts as trifles in a universe. It's an experience everyone should have—but not often enough to forget the man-made miracle of man soaring above the clouds for a glimpse, at least, of eternal meanings.

Referendum Set On Wheat Quota

In line with currently controlling legislation, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson has proclaimed marketing quotas on the 1961 wheat crop and set July 21 as the date for a referendum to determine producer approval or disapproval of quotas.

The secretary also proclaimed a national wheat acreage allotment of 55 million acres, the minimum permitted by law and announced state shares of the allotment.

Texas' share of the allotment was set at 4,047,136 acres. This compares with 4,092,251 acres in 1960. An announcement also was made that the minimum national average support price for 1961 production will be determined before the wheat referendum on the basis of the latest available supply information.

If producers approve marketing quotas, under the proclamation announced, the national average support price available to eligible growers in the commercial area will not be less than the minimum support to be announced before the referendum.

On the basis of the present supply of wheat and present legislation, the legal minimum wheat support price for the 1961 crop would be at 75 percent of parity.

Individual farm marketing quotas will be the normal production or the actual production from the farm acreage allotment, whichever is larger. Growers in the commercial area who stay within their allotments will be eligible for price support on their entire production. Growers who exceed their acreage allotments will be subject to market quota penalties if they have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest.

If marketing quotas are not approved by the necessary two-thirds of the voting producers in the July 21 referendum, there will be no restrictions on wheat marketings. Acreage allotments will remain in effect as a condition of eligibility for price support at 50 percent of parity as required by law.

It takes an inventive genius nowadays to make both ends meet.

Drive Underway To Clean Lots

Property owners with vacant lots that need cleaning or mowing will receive letters from City Manager Herschell Stevens soon advising them to clean up the lots.

If the lots are not cleaned and moved by the property owners, then the city will clean and mow the lots and charge the expense to the property owner, Stevens said.

Property owners will be given plenty of time to clean the lots before the city steps in.

A survey of the city was made soon after Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up Week was completed.

Museum Showing Mack's Paintings

Oil paintings by A. W. Mack are being shown in the Hall of Fine Arts of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum until the end of June.

The 47 canvases of varied sizes display a range of subject and surface techniques. Many of these were painted on recent travels in Europe, Ireland in particular. On four trips abroad since 1952, study in art galleries and sketching from life and nature have added considerably to the years of studio practice and performance.

Classical interest is shown in various interpretations of literary, Biblical, and mythological subjects; but Panhandle blizzards, spaces and skies, plus familiar faces and occupations, will command wider local attention.

Light and color abound whether in the tragic rendering of the Crucifixion or the classic calm of the poetess Sappho. Mexican blues with background of yellow pointing up humorous contrasts between women at work and men at sleep typify Mack's genre treatment.

Mack is a native of Scotland and a graduate of the Art College and Teachers College at Edinburgh. He studied art in Glasgow, Dublin, London, and Paris. He has had studios in San Antonio, Amarillo, Lubbock, and Canyon. He has made his home in Canyon since World War II after returning from England.

Mack's wife is Dr. Mattie Mack, professor of English at West Texas State College.

Mrs. Fred Standley and Mrs. Bertha Matlock directed the program.

During the business session, the club voted to donate $50 toward the purchase of a new typewriter for the Randall County Library.

Mrs. L. H. Owens was elected vice president, succeeding Mrs. Joseph Findley, who became president on the resignation of Mrs. Walter Graham. Other officers for the ensuing year will be those serving during 1959-60.

Washington Report

Democracy

By Representative Walter Rogers 18th Congressional District

The news these days is filled with word of primary elections, which are commanding the attention of people in various states all over the country. These elections have assumed an even greater importance in this presidential year, and are certain to offer a demonstration of the vigorous way in which our democracy can work.

Our own great state held its primary recently, and I want to say how grateful and proud I am for the confidence and friendship expressed in me by the people of the Panhandle. In addition to an earnest word of thanks for this expression, I want to say that I will do all within my power to justify the confidence in my efforts to uphold the best possible government.

Communication Needed

Our government functions at its best with the cooperation and liaison between the representative and the represented. I would like to reassert that I solicit and ever welcome the expression and views of every single person in every one of the 28 counties in the 18th Congressional District of Texas in order to more effectively discharge my duties and responsibilities as your congressman.

I trust I may continue to receive them by mail, telephone, verbally, or in any other manner. The process of selecting a democratic government is always a tremendously exciting experience. No matter what the views one may hold, the right to express those views in a free election, as was done in the Texas primary, seems to renew the hope of people all over the world in democracy.

Such is the hope we are all expressing as millions of ballots are cast between now and the November general elections. At the same time, we might also be expressing the friendly wish that on some day in the not-too-distant future the same opportunity can be extended to men and women everywhere so that all may experience the far-flung possibilities of free government.

Have Important Function

Elections have become increasingly important in the most recent history of our country, when responsible, active, and intelligent leadership has become so vital to our future. The United States, whether we like it or not, has become the free world's pivot. The features of our domestic life have grown so complex that it is virtually impossible to have a thorough, working knowledge of our world today.

So, in government as in just about everything else, we find ourselves coming to depend upon the good efforts of many other people. There are, of course, good and bad aspects of this process our nation is undergoing. I think we may at least be proud of the fact that people everywhere have a greatly increased opportunity to play an ever larger role in forging the type of country and world that is believed best.

But as the opportunities for our people increase, so do the dangers. The threats to our national security are pressing from both within and without. The responsibility of meeting these threats is indeed a grave and sobering one, but I shall continue to work toward that end and preserve the form of government which we all cherish so highly. I am deeply honored to have so many friends and supporters among the fine people of the 18th District, and I want you all to know that I shall continue to work for the Panhandle of Texas to the best of my ability within the Congress of the United States.

You Too?

The designation of the plane brought down by the Russians, the U-2, could have been the expression by Khrushchev, when he pointed an accusing finger at this country. It would certainly be appropriate, because the Russians have been doing the same thing for a long time and have been caught at it in this country and Canada. Although their activities have not yet involved aerial reconnaissance, so far as we know, I feel sure that some must have gone on. We would certainly be naive to think otherwise.

The big scream from Russia is based upon what they claim is a violation of international law. That is, the unapproved violation of their territorial boundaries. Since a boundary line is fixed on land and water, extends downward to the center of the earth and upward to the heavens, it would probably be in order to call attention to the fact that Russia, by her own admission, violated the territorial sovereignty of this country when she placed Sputnik in orbit. She openly claimed that this object passed immediately over the United States.

So far as I know, there has not been any separation of outer space insofar as territorial boundaries are concerned. Perhaps Russia is operating on the theory that the difference between violation or non-violation of territorial boundaries in the air space above a country depends upon whether or not you are able to shoot down the object in such air space. This has not, to my knowledge, been adopted as a rule of international law, and I doubt that it will be, but Russia has never been known to be hesitant in making rules that fit her own conduct favorably.

Silver Anniversary Celebrated Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Shero were honored with an open house Sunday from 3 until 6 p.m. to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

Hostesses were Mrs. Archie Dean Davis, daughter of the honorees, Mrs. George White, sister of Mrs. Shero, Mrs. John Hardaway, sister-in-law of Mrs. Shero, and Mrs. Johnnie McBroom.

Laid with a lace over pink cloth, the tea table was centered with an arrangement of pink carnations with "25" in silver and pink streamers with the lettering in silver, "Ruth and Elwood, May 19." Appointments of milk glass were used to serve the punch, coffee, and cake.

Approximately 60 friends called during the receiving hours.

Routine business items such as district accounts payable and financial reports were studied and approved at the last regular meeting of the Canyon school board. The school calendar for the next school year also was approved.

In other business, the board purchased fire extinguishers for the new high school and to replace the old type extinguishers now being used in the high school, junior high, and the buses.

Flight Training To Start at WT

A flight training program, designed to commission six men annually into the Army aviation division, will be started in September in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit at West Texas State College.

"A tentative quota for West Texas State's unit is six," Lt. Col. Edward L. Lindsey, professor of military science and tactics, has announced. "The quota, which may be increased, refers to the number of ROTC students who will be allowed to enter the program during their senior year."

Assignment of the training program to WT followed a request by President James P. Cornette.

Col. Lindsey said the program will be conducted by a flight training school, at Tradewind Airport in Amarillo, approved by the Civil Aeronautics Administration. Part of the program will also be conducted at the regular six-weeks summer camp at Fort Hood.

Cadets who are qualified and choose to enter the flight program, must agree, that if commissioned at the time of graduation, they will volunteer for Army aviation training and assignment and will serve on active duty for three years. Other cadets in the present program are required a minimum of two years on active duty.

All students entering the new flight program will receive the training in addition to other training received by regular cadets. They will learn contact flying and will qualify for a civilian pilot's license.

Two All-Staters Signed by Buffs

Two All-State football players from Texas and New Mexico have been signed to athletic contracts at West Texas State, according to head coach Joe Kerbel.

Billy Ross Cavin, a hard-running fullback who powered Brady High School to the Texas Class AA championship last fall, was one of the state's most sought gridders.

The 6-foot, 195-pound back personally gained 1,500 yards rushing while leading the high-scoring Brady team over the opposition. He made all-district and first team all-state in his division.

Joining the Buffaloes from Hurley, N. M., is Lee Jackson, 6-foot, 185-pound fullback, whose honors read like a Who's Who of football players.

He made all-state in New Mexico, was named all-Southern and was picked on the national all-American high school roster. He lettered three years in football and two in track.

Former Canyonite Dies in Edinburg

Dr. J. B. Speer, one-time superintendent of Canyon schools, died of a heart attack last week at Edinburg, where he was dean of the Department of Education in Pan American College.

He was buried in Edinburg last Thursday.

Dr. Speer, a graduate of West Texas State College, was a native of the Texas Plains and had many friends in the Panhandle.
